Have not chosen a pediatrician yet?

You do not always have to go to the emergency room. Many childhood illnesses, such as colds, flu, and fever, may be treated by your child's pediatrician, at home, or at urgent care.

Call your child's pediatrician

Call your child's pediatrician for advice first or to schedule an appointment. If the office is closed, on-call guidance may be available.

Visit urgent care or after-hours care

For non-emergency needs such as minor injuries, ear infections, allergic reactions, cuts that may need stitches, or high fevers. Please follow up with your child's pediatrician afterward.

Go to the ER or call 911 for emergencies

If your child has:

- Trouble breathing
- Severe dehydration
- Signs of an allergic reaction
- Fever of 100.4°F or higher in an infant younger than 2 months
